OUR HISTORY IS BASED ON QUALITY

1993

Isap conquered the European and the international market.

1981

Isap introduced customised printing.

2008

Isap launched a range of products made of cellulose pulp.

2009

Satspack was created, an innovative range of fruit and vegetable trays.

1974

Isap and OMV invented the initial technology with which to produce polypropylene cups.

2012

The ultra-transparent polypropylene cup was created.

1964

Isap produced its first plastic fruit and vegetable containers.

1963

Isap Packaging was founded in Verona together with the OMV mechanical engineering company, a manufacturer of thermoforming systems, linked to Isap at that time.

1972

Isap was the first company on the market to produce transparent PS cups.

2015

The first Sustainability Report was presented.

2016

The Elegance Finger Food range was created.

2017

Isap collaborated on the birth of FTT, a company specialised in technology for producing plant fibre tableware and packaging.

2019

The Italian company FLO took over ISAP Packaging.

Today, Isap Packaging is the culmination of almost sixty years of experience and progress in producing disposable plastic tableware and packaging for foodstuff. Founded in Verona in 1963 as a family-run business, since 2006 Isap has been a member of the industrial group that includes the Italian companies FLO S.p.A and Dopia S.p.A, a major European player in the sector. In 2017, FTT S.r.l. (Fiber Thermoforming Technologies) was established, a startup specialised in technology for producing plant fibre tableware and packaging. In 2019, after the re-organisation of the companies in the group to achieve greater operational efficiency and expand business on an international scale, ISAP was taken over by FLO S.p.A. Today, ISAP exports to more than thirty countries worldwide, continuing its policy of investing in innovation and product quality while focusing on global sustainability.

WE ARE PLANNING A FUTURE BASED ON QUALITY

Over the years, ISAP's production has followed a path of development in search of materials and solutions that can offer the best performance, the highest standards of safety and the best balance of utility and sustainability. In short, the best quality. ISAP expresses this quality in all the company's activities and processes, and in its relations with customers, employees and the territory.

Quality from the outset, by researching raw materials.

Quality of end products, thanks to complete traceability and total control of its chemical and physical parameters.

Quality beyond the life of products, which are largely already compostable, biodegradable and totally recyclable in the case of products made of plastic.

Quality of the production cycle, achieved by optimising energy consumption, logistics flows and responsible waste management.

Quality of our service thanks to training of the technical and commercial network Isap is ready to provide a comprehensive and up-to-date consulting service.

QUALITY IS NOT IMPROVISED,
IT IS PURSUED

Isap supports the importance of the circular economy.

We are therefore committed to advanced research into the use of materials from renewable sources, such as corn starch and cellulose pulp, to make products that are entirely biodegradable and compostable.

Our in-company R&D department studies the use of new materials with the scientific support of FCPLAB - ISAP Packaging S.p.A. in order to carry out chemical analyses, physical and mechanical tests and microbiological analyses.

With more than 15,000 microbiological analyses and over 21,000 compression tests, FCPLAB - ISAP Packaging S.p.A. is a strategic tool for guaranteeing product quality and safety.

SUSTAINABLE QUALITY IN WORDS

Biodegradable

Biodegradable materials are those that decompose into very small fragments due to biological agents and changes in the chemical structure of materials.

Biodegradable tableware can therefore be decomposed by nature.

Compostable

Compostable materials are those that totally decompose when exposed to certain conditions without leaving any visible residues. Composting is therefore the complete process of biodegradability.

P^{LA}

PLA is the acronym for polylactic acid, obtained from the controlled decomposition of corn starch.

C^{PLA}

CPLA is a type of “crystallised” PLA, obtained from a process that allows cups to withstand hotter temperatures. For example, it is ideal for drinks such as tea or coffee.

Cellulose pulp

Also available in a version coupled with compostable plastic, it is used for dry food and other foodstuff

Cardboard

Also available in a version coupled with compostable plastic, it is used for dry food and other foodstuff.

FOR QUALITY INFORMATION

Plastic cannot be totally and immediately replaced by other disposable materials, also due to issues of safety and hygiene, and this would not lead to any real improvements for the environment.

The EU Decree on reducing plastic does not include a ban on containers for food and beverages, including plastic cups “for which there are no alternatives” of an appropriate or more sustainable nature. For these products, the only provision is to reduce the number.

Plastic plates and cutlery represent a small percentage of the total plastic transformed in Europe (0.3%).

Once used, disposable tableware remains a resource, as it can be recycled to make new objects.

In Europe and in Italy, a recycling culture is being developed that also increases the sustainability of traditional plastics. The spreading of residual waste is due to bad practices which, unfortunately, do not make a distinction between plastic and other materials.

Lsap plays an active role against such bad habits and is in favour of more efficient collection and recycling systems.
